

Those who view it daily differ on merits of city hall mural

By RON JENNINGS
Staff Writer

The Municipal Building mural — Eric Bransby's effort to artistically capture Sedalia's early history — has been received with varying opinions by Municipal Building employees who walk by it every day.

Mrs. Kris Miller, a receptionist and secretary for the community block grant program and city planning and management department, has an art degree from Central Missouri State University. "It is really very good in an overall sense, I feel," commented Mrs. Miller, who added that she also appreciates Bransby's "brush technique."

She also, however, feels "there is too much geometric abstraction, such as in the shape of the side panels." Mrs. Miller, who has lived in Sedalia less than a year, said she learned a lot of local history from the mural, "things I've never really realized before about Sedalia."

Mrs. Miller's boss, city planning and management director

Ron Scott, feels "it gives this building a lot of class. I guess that's the real thing as far as I'm concerned." In his duties, Scott has visited many area municipal buildings, including the one in Warrensburg that is newer than Sedalia's. "But," he concluded, "I think that with this mural, our building is the best of them all."

Many persons indicated they were dubious about the color scheme. Carol Hinkle, secretary for the city parking meter department, however, is going to reserve her final judgment.

"I think people would maybe have liked it better if it had brighter colors, but I'm going to wait until they get the lights shining on it before I make up my mind," Mrs. Hinkle said. "People who were at the dedication ceremony, when the temporary lights were shining on it for a while, said the lights made a lot of difference, that it brought out a lot in the colors. So that's what I'm waiting for."

Mrs. Hinkle added that she liked the work's overall theme, "particularly the fine detail which he has shown."

Like Mrs. Miller, city planning specialist Merle McMillan also offered a particularly informed opinion — she has a degree in fine arts and interior design. Her enthusiasm for Bransby's achievement was readily apparent.

"I think it's terrific because of its unity, the way he has integrated the mural into the architecture," she said. "Also, there is something for everybody in it, that is for the person who looks at it up close and for those who look at it from a distance."

Mrs. McMillan also appreciated "the way he (Bransby) takes the viewer and carries him from one realm of the mural to another by various techniques."

Richard Battles, city-county counselor on problem drinking, was equally opinionated, but from an opposite perspective.

"I don't like it. I think it's a sparsely-done piece of work that lacks tremendously in portraying Sedalia and its past," Battles said. "There's just not enough to it. It doesn't show the railroad shops in great enough detail and . . . there's nothing about the Missouri State Fair in it."

Asked his opinion of Bransby's craftsmanship, Battles replied, "It's fair to middlin'. I guess I'm spoiled by Thomas Hart Benton's works." Battles added that he would have enjoyed a "sweeping" mural, such as those painted by Benton for the Truman Library in Independence.

Nelson Lee, assistant city building inspector, said he also would have preferred a continuous panoramic work. Indeed, Lee said, "I've been asked several times since the mural was put up, 'Where is the new mural?' People walk right by and don't even notice it because it's not what they're looking for or what they expected to see."

The new mural may not be exactly what she had in mind either, but Debbie Williams, secretary to Mayor Allen Hawkins and Economic Development Director James Hamm, said she "really likes it," especially from her second-floor perspective.

Prison plan still alive

JEFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Supporters of a maximum security prison in mid-Missouri say plans for the facility are still alive even though the House voted down a Senate proposal to build the jail.

Supporters of the maximum security concept said the close 88-66 vote by which the plan was turned away Tuesday was a sign that the House would eventually accept the plan if a compromise committee endorses it. The compromise committee is assigned to work out differences between House and Senate versions of the appropriations measure which includes the prison plan.

The House has approved funding for a medium-security prison located near an urban area. Corrections officials had started negotiations to buy a tract of land in the Birmingham Bottoms area near Liberty, until the Senate voted last week to abandon that site for a maximum-security prison in the central part of the state.

"I'd definitely like to think the vote was a show of support for the maximum security concept," said Rep. Stan Thomas, D-Liberty, of the 65 other House members who joined him in unsuccessfully trying to accept the Senate proposal. Thomas' district was to be the site of a 500-inmate medium security prison, in the planning for two years.

A coalition of 10 social welfare, anti-crime and religious groups said Tuesday they plan to muster statewide public support for locating the prison near an urban area.

The Most Rev. Michael F. McAuliffe, bishop of the Jefferson City diocese and chairman of the Missouri Catholic Conference, said the coalition members were contacting lawmakers in an effort to reverse the Senate's plan to abandon the urban, medium security prison proposal.

Teasdale renewed his support Tuesday for the urban site, and said he plans to confer with legislative leaders on the matter later this week.

"But either way—the Clay County site or central Missouri, a maximum security prison or a medium security one—what I want to do and do it quickly is find out what's the best thing to be done and get a prison built," the governor said.

The governor declined to directly answer questions on whether he would consider vetoing funds for a mid-Missouri prison if the legislature agreed to such a plan.

The Senon would permit locating the prison only in mid-Missouri or on one small tract near Springfield. Because resources are more available near the metropolitan areas, backers of the urban site, including corrections officials, have said the chances are better for rehabilitating inmates who are not considered "hard core."

They also note that more than half of the inmates in state penitentiaries are from St. Louis or Kansas City.

Ferguson Democrat Robert Fowler initiated the effort to accept the Senate plan in the House. Fowler is head of the House contingent to the Joint Committee on Corrections. In the past, that panel had indicated its support for an urban location.

Fowler acknowledged that it is unclear what approach would be best, but he said the state is "at a very critical, very crucial point. We are going to have to make some quick decisions on our prisoners."

Thomas noted that three earlier sites proposed for the new prison in western Missouri had to be abandoned because of local opposition, and he said people in his district feel the same way about the recently-proposed site in the area north of Kansas City.

Critics of the medium-security concept say a maximum security prison is needed to segregate the incorrigible inmates so the others have a chance for rehabilitation.

Construction on new project due to begin

Construction will begin this week on a $944,000, 52-unit supplemental housing complex for the elderly and handicapped at West 10th and Olsen Drive, it was announced Wednesday by George Dugan.

Dugan, his brother, Bill, and attorney Robert Wesner are partners in WDW Properties, Inc., the firm that has undertaken the project. The complex is situated west of the Plaza West apartments and south of the Ramada Inn.

The revised cost estimate for the project of $944,000 is $14,000 more than that stated at the April meeting of the Sedalia Water Board.

The board at that time approved the extension of single-meter water service to the complex, Dugan said. An $840,000 federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) loan for the project had been approved earlier, but construction could not start until permission was granted from the Missouri Housing Development Commission (MHDC).

The units will be constructed by the Neighbors Construction Co., Kansas City, which is now finishing a similar hous-

Group voices concern over handling of fire

About a dozen people from the area surrounding the 2300 block of East 12th met with city officials Tuesday evening to discuss their concern about the fire department's rescue procedures.

Questions regarding rescue operations arose following a fire early Saturday morning at 2309 East 12th. Mrs. Norma Brookman was carried unconscious from her bedroom by firemen and neighbors during that blaze.

Many of those present at the Tuesday meeting expressed concern over the fire department's handling of the fire. Some allegations were made that firemen did not act to rescue Mrs. Brookman until directed to do so by neighbors. Members of the group also said they thought the department was slow in responding to the call.

John White, 2305 East 12th, said he was the first person to locate Mrs. Brookman in the house. He said he saw her lying on her bed through a window on the northeast side of the house. Much of Tuesday's meeting took place just outside that charred bedroom.

"There was a man who answered,"

Mrs. Lena Fischer, 2306 East 12th, said of her call to the fire department. "I said, 'There is a house on fire and its burning down and there is a woman inside. Hurry.'"

Mrs. Fischer made the first of three calls reporting the fire to the fire department. The police department, which receives the initial fire reports, logged the call at 4:44 a.m. Saturday.

Fire Chief Willis Jabas said he "found no room for error" in the speed with which fire fighters responded to the alarm.

Mrs. Fischer added that she tried to watch the rescue effort, but was turned away.

"They wouldn't let me see," she told The Democrat-Capital. "They sent me out into the street, because they thought Norma was gone."

White said he ran to the front of the house when he saw fire trucks there.

"I told him (a fire fighter) there was someone in the bedroom and we couldn't get the window open to get her out," recalled White. "He handed me this deal (a hooked pole) and went to the truck or something for a second. I don't remember if he came to the back with me or not that time. There were so many things happening and everything happened so fast, I really can't remember if I had to go back and get the first one (fire fighter) or not. I am sure I had to get the second one."

White said he pried the bedroom window open and helped boost two fire fighters into the room. They took Mrs. Brookman from the bed and lifted her out the window. She was taken into the yard of Mrs. Helen Moldovan, 2313 East 12th, where she remained until an ambulance took her to Bothwell Hospital.

White said he asked a fireman to provide Mrs. Brookman, who was unconscious, with oxygen, but that this apparently was not done. Chief Jabas said Wednesday that he did not know why oxygen was not administered to Mrs. Brookman, which is supposed to be standard procedure in such cases.

"The first thing I remember was someone saying, 'She's coming around,'"

New lease on life for local landmark

A Sedalia landmark will receive a facelift and a new lease on life this summer.

The 79-year-old original Sedalia Post Office building at Second and Lamine was purchased in January by local certified public accountant Fred Kingsolver, 1100 South Barrett, and work will begin this summer on the restoration.

Kingsolver said he hopes to restore the building on the outside so it resembles what it looked like when first built. The interior will be remodelled to make room for offices on the first and second floors. Although he has no immediate plans for the basement, Kingsolver said a restaurant could possibly be located there someday.

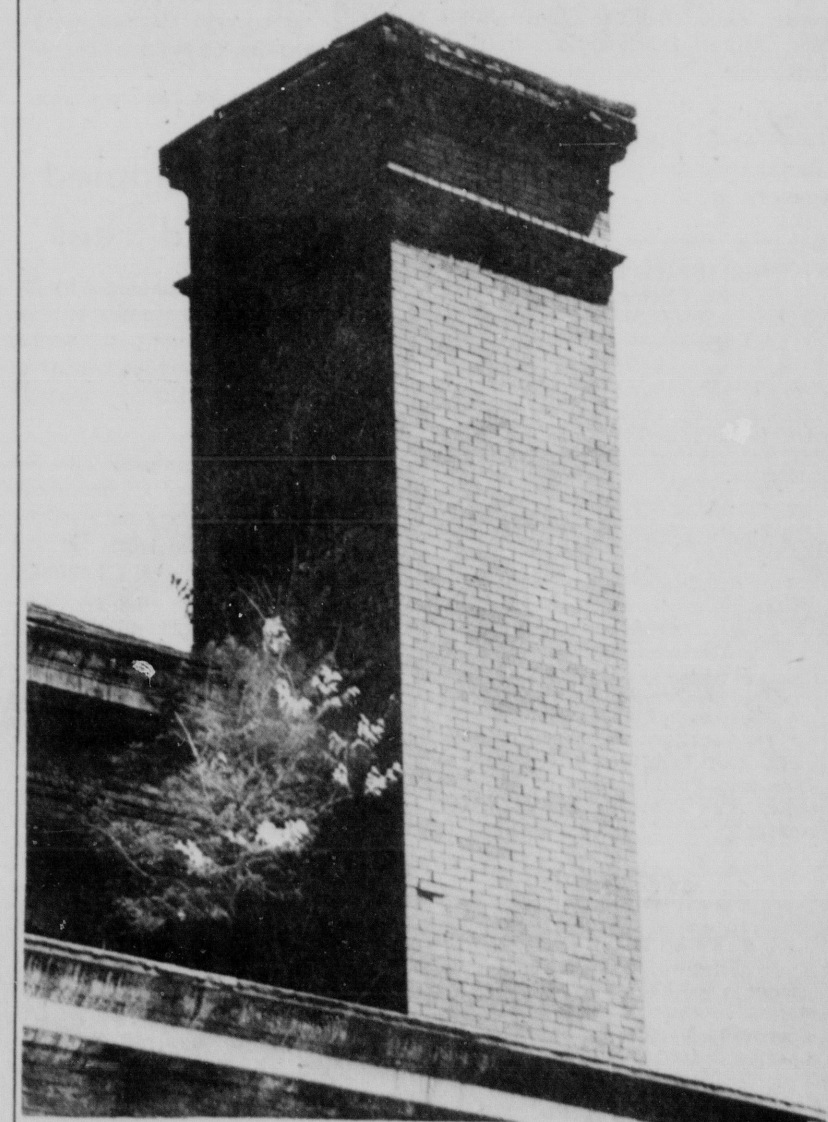

Kingsolver purchased the building from Lester Shanks, Route 2, for an undisclosed price.

The third floor tower room of the building would be an ideal location for an artist or architect because of the large windows in each wall, he said.

The building was built as Sedalia's first post office in 1898 and served as a post office for 36 years until a new post office was built at Fourth and Lamine. The building then served as a union hall. Kingsolver said he did not know how long the structure has been vacant. However, recently a motorcycle repair shop was located in the basement.

Kingsolver said the building is in good condition and "the structural shape of the building is unbelievable."

Researchers say 'pill' beneficial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The known benefits of birth control pills outweigh unproven assertions that they cause cancer in women, two George Washington University researchers say.

Ward Rhinehart and Judy C. Felt said Tuesday that medical science has failed to prove the pill has cancer-causing qualities. But the two agreed that studying the pill's possible link to cancer is a difficult undertaking.

Titled "Debate on Oral Contraceptives and Neoplasia Continues: Answers Remain Elusive," the researchers' report was based on a review of medical research on oral contraceptives and both malignant and benign or noncancerous tumors.

Their report appeared in the publication, "Population Reports," of the Population Information Program at the university.

Rhinehart and Felt said, based on current evidence, there is nothing to justify restricting the availability of the pill.

Among the other findings were these:
—The pill seems to help prevent benign breast tumors.
—Breast cancer has not been linked to the pill in most studies.

—There is no evidence that the popular combined oral contraceptives caused cancer of the endometrium, or lining of the uterus. Partly because of concern over this possibility, several less popular sequential oral contraceptives have been taken off the market in several countries, including the United States.

Cutbacks harsh in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia school board, forced by the city's banks to balance its books, has passed a budget that would close 32 schools, put nearly 10,000 employees out of work and eliminate varsity sports, kindergartens and food services.

"Many of those reductions constitute the highest priorities in the system," said schools Superintendent Michael Marcuse. "We had no alternative."

Marcuse said the $511 million budget passed by the board Tuesday was necessary because Philadelphia banks, which lent $30 million to help the school system meet its May payroll, threatened to withhold more loans unless the system eliminated its deficit.

This year's budget carried a $173 million deficit. The system has 283 schools and about 250,000 pupils.

Marcuse said the only hope for averting the cuts is in Harrisburg, where the state legislature is considering two revenue bills that would pump an additional $156 million into the district.

Otherwise, he said, layoff notices will be sent out before June 30.

Other effects of the emergency budget include the elimination of school transportation — even for non-public schools — except for handicapped students. The budget also cuts out "alternative" education programs.

An out-of-court settlement reached

A $45,000 law suit was settled out of Circuit Court Wednesday morning for an undisclosed amount.

The suit was filed by Dwight G. Collier, Route 2, against Sambo's Restaurant, 2001 South Limit, and its manager, Robert C. Schurtz Jr.

The suit alleged that on Sept. 13, 1975, Schurtz had Collier arrested for stealing property valued at less than $50 from the restaurant. On Sept. 16, 1975, the charge against Collier was dismissed in Municipal Court at the request of the restaurant.

Collier had been asking for a $15,000 settlement for mental anguish and $30,000 in punitive damages.

Tentative accords fall apart in talks at Paris conference

PARIS (AP) — Preliminary agreements on some of the major economic questions facing the conference of rich, poor and oil-producing nations "came unraveled" today, a U.S. spokesman said.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance delayed his departure from Paris because of the last-minute difficulties in reaching minimum agreement, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said.

He said the problems arose in tough negotiating today between the 19 developing and eight industrialized na-

Scientists pessimistic about Mars life results

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The $50 million Viking search for life on Mars is over, and scientists, while still puzzled, are generally pessimistic about the results from the two robot spacecraft.

"The majority opinion is that they have not detected life in the samples of Martian soil they tested," a spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday.

Viking 1 set down on the red planet last July 13, and Viking 2 landed September 3. The Viking landers scooped up soil from the Martian surface and performed experiments until Tuesday, when their automated laboratories were switched off from Earth.

They had run out of the nutrient liquids and helium gas needed to conduct the biology experiments.

However, the landers and two orbiters circling the planet continue to carry out other scientific observations, gathering information on Martian winds and temperatures.

The landers carried out all the tasks they were designed for — and some they weren't, including some self-repair.

said Mrs. Brookman Tuesday. "Then there was this huge light overhead." She regained consciousness as she underwent treatment at Bothwell Hospital.

"I think the thing that is bothering us is that this is our neighborhood. These are our homes and we can imagine our houses going up in flames with our families inside," said Mrs. Shirley Merk, 2312 East 12th.

Jabas said no fire fighter is charged with the specific duty of checking for trapped or helpless persons at fires. He said the officer in charge usually designates a fire fighter to undertake such duties. However, that designation was not made in this case, he said.

The officer in charge of the Saturday fire run was a lieutenant. Normally an assistant fire chief is in command.

Jabas explained that one day every month lieutenants take over for assistant chiefs who are allowed a special day off known as a "Kelly Day."

"I feel that I will cover for the assistant chiefs on that day off," Jabas said following the meeting. "In other words, I respond to all calls, but now I will respond from the station and I won't be responding from my home."

Jabas said his decision was not an indication that his lieutenants are not capable of handling supervisory duties.

"I'm merely doing this because then the buck stops with me," he said.

Fourth Ward Republican Larry Stevenson, who chairs the City Council's fire and water committee, asked if a public hearing into the matter "at city hall" was needed. Those at the meeting said no.

"We're not here to give anyone a hard time," said a woman who refused to be identified. "We just have to ask some questions."

Third Ward Democrat Carl Franklin said, "I'm sure you want to see if there is some set procedure and I'm sure the chief has one. It may not have been carried out this time, is all."

Leukemia stats encouraging

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five years ago, it might have been a medical miracle. But when Michael Morelock, 7, stops taking drugs after three and a half years of fighting leukemia, it will be almost a typical case.

"This disease used to be universally fatal," said Dr. Arthur R. Ablin of the children's cancer program at University of California-San Francisco Medical Center. "Life expectancy after diagnosis used to be 10 weeks."

But now 62 per cent of the children found to have leukemia are still alive five years after the diagnosis, and doctors expect most to live far longer.

The statistics are from the National Cancer Institute's Children's Cancer Study Group, of which UCSF is a part. Ablin announced on Tuesday a program to share information about the group's successful treatment methods with a number of other hospitals in Northern California.

The study group, made up of 25 teaching hospitals nationwide, compiles statistics each year on some 2,100 children with cancer. Information about the children — the course of their disease and their response to treatment — goes into a huge data bank, which is constantly updating statistics about which kinds of treatments are working best.

"If you have only 50 new cases of cancer each year, it takes years to answer these questions about which treatments are working and what are their side effects," Ablin said. But with more than 400 new cases a year in the data bank, he said, doctors are developing a set of statistics that can predict more reliably which treatments will be most effective.

Michael hasn't been sick with leukemia since the episode that led to its diagnosis when he was four years old. But doctors are cautious about saying he is cured. They say only that the disease has been in continuous remission for three and a half years.

What happens to Michael when he goes off drug therapy July 5 will be fed into the data bank to provide more information for the next "generation" of leukemia patients.

Michael will return to the hospital every three months for blood counts and bone marrow tests.

Meanwhile, he'll be going to school.

led scientists to think they might have found evidence of life. But later experiments failed to clear up the ambiguous results, and scientists developed theories of how the results could have been produced by a unique chemical — rather than biological — process in the soil.

Dr. Don DeVincenzi, who heads NASA's Division of Extraterrestrial Biology, said Tuesday that while the chemical theories "have considerable merit," they don't fit all the results from Viking.

The Viking results could have been produced by a nonliving process triggered by "eons of fairly intense radiation (from the sun) interacting with the surface material and the atmosphere," said DeVincenzi.

But the hypotheses are valid only if it can be shown that a certain iron compound is present in the Martian surface, he said, and Viking has no way of confirming the existence of the compound.

"I don't think that the findings negate the possibility of life on Mars," he said. "The problem is that Viking has only searched about 160 square feet of the planet, and we're trying to extrapolate the results to the whole planet."

Thieves are bolder in home burglaries

Thieves are evidently taking advantage of the summer weather. Three Sedalia homes have been entered while the occupants were in the backyards Tuesday afternoon.

About $46 in cash was taken from a purse owned by Marchetta Overby, 1320 South Missouri, while she was at 1307 East Seventh and her purse was in the kitchen at that house about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday. A young woman was seen entering the East Seventh address by neighbors.

Helen Ditzfeld, 1305 East Seventh, reported that a coin purse containing $11 and a gold cross were taken from her purse in her bedroom while she was in her backyard about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Richard Coats, 1223 East Ninth, was mowing grass in his backyard when someone entered his home about 3 p.m. Tuesday. Nothing was taken in that incident.

agrees on motherhood" and that the major problems remained to be settled.

Western spokesmen also had said Tuesday that this energy agreement, which would not be concerned with oil prices, depended on whether the industrialized nations met the economic demands of developing countries.

Claude Cheysson of the European Common Market, the industrial nations' chief representative in the group working on energy and financial questions, had said Tuesday that details on the form and subject matter of energy consultations remained to be decided. He told reporters a final agreement depended on whether an over-all North-South package could be formulated.

Vance proposed at the conference opening on Monday that the 18-month dialogue on world economic problems continue past the current ministerial session in Paris. Carter said today this idea, which generated little initial support, was still being discussed "informally."

Success of the negotiations appeared to hinge on the developing nations' being satisfied the West had made a real effort to meet the demands they put forward as a basis for restructuring the international economic structure so they get a bigger slice of the financial pie.

The Third World participants complained Tuesday that the richer nations had failed to offer any "positive proposals" to narrow the gap between haves and have-nots.

Youth admits story a hoax

A Green Ridge youth who apparently concocted an elaborate tale to avoid admitting to wrecking his father's pick-up truck was in fair condition at Bothwell Hospital late Tuesday night.

Jeffery Tucker, 16, had told police that two black men pulled him from the truck in the 100 block of West Main early Tuesday morning and beat him. Tucker also said the men took the truck. Police discovered the wrecked truck at Grand and Highway 65 later in the day. Tucker reportedly confessed to fabricating the story of the beating and theft.

Tucker sustained a broken jaw in the wreck of the truck.

— T & W Car Sales, 1000 West Main, received $280 in damage and equipment loss in an overnight break-in Monday.

Damage to the front door and a window was set at $70, and a black and white television set and a four-channel VHF scanner, collectively valued at $210, were taken from the office.

Police said a watch dog put in the office each evening was found outside the office by the owners Tuesday morning.

ing complex in Warrensburg. Dugan said applications for occupancy of the units will be accepted starting in October, with the first units expected to be completed and ready for residents by the first of the year.

The proposed facility, which Dugan said in April has been in the "paperwork" stages since 1971, will include 10 four-unit complexes and two six-unit complexes. The four-unit facilities will be for the elderly, while the six-unit complexes will be for the handicapped.

The special facilities for the handicapped include such things as special ramps, clutch bars in bathrooms and other adaptations. The entire unit will also be landscaped, Dugan said. The project is expected to be completed in nine to 11 months.

Sedalia site for Quik Trip, company says

A Quik Trip convenience store, featuring more than 2,000 items for sale, will be built this summer at the southeast corner of Broadway and Moniteau, it was learned Wednesday.

The store will either be open from 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. or 24 hours a day, depending on the amount of business done. John Scott, director of the Quik Trip regional office in Kansas City, said Wednesday. The Quik Trip company operates 185 stores in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, with 48 of the stores located in Missouri.

Construction on the planned 40-by-60 foot brick structure is expected to begin as soon as bids are received on the project, Scott said. The original opening date was around Aug. 1, but, Scott said, "the tornado set us back some because most of the local contractors have all they can handle now."

Scott said Quik Trip hopes to secure a local contracting firm to construct its building, "but if they're all tied up, we may have to go with somebody from Kansas City."

In addition to the building, two self-service gasoline pumps will be located in front of the store building.

Carter advocates close science tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today his administration is bent on forging a closer link between scientific knowledge "and the political application of that knowledge for the benefit of all mankind."

Carter made the statement at a Rose Garden ceremony during which three men with scientific backgrounds were installed in science-related posts. The three are:

Dr. Frank Press, director of the Office of Science and Technology; Richard C. Atkinson, director of the National Science Foundation, and Dr. Peter Bourne, director, Office of Drug Abuse Policy.

They took their oaths of office from U.S. Circuit Judge David Bazelon.

Carter said Press, an earth sciences specialist from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will sit in Cabinet meetings and attend meetings of the White House senior staff.

The President noted that Atkinson, acting director of the Science Foundation for the past year, has a broad background, including wide knowledge of the humanities. He said his appointment marks "a significant departure from the physical sciences to some degree" in the government's approach to scientific affairs.

Study of mountain folks is launched

By JUDY BOCKLAGE
Associated Press Writer

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Roy Edwin Thomas says it's important that young people growing up in the backwoods areas of America know their heritage.

So, Thomas has started what he hopes will become a new academic field — the social study of mountain people.

"Few people can have pride in themselves until they understand where they came from," he said.

Until a year ago, Thomas taught at Appalachia University in northwest North Carolina. He said he quit because "there was something else that needed to be done."

He has talked to people in nearly every county in Arkansas, southern Missouri and seven Appalachian states. Thomas recently completed his 1,000th interview at Russellville in an attempt to record the dialect and culture of mountain folk.

Thomas said he looked in nursing homes, country stores and courthouses for persons over the age of 80 who were "big talkers and good recollectors" to help him record the heritage of the mountain people.

He believes the mountain dialect, which is still spoken in mountainous areas, holds youngsters back from making a success in the world.

Thomas says he is an example. He grew up near Bee Branch in Van Buren County and attended a one-room school in the Seed Tick School District. When he went away for higher education, he made D-minuses in English and blames his dialect.

Thomas said schools do not know how to teach youngsters with a strong mountain dialect to learn modern English. That's why he hopes one of the results of his work will be a supplementary textbook, or maybe a whole new series of mountain studies, similar to the black studies that became popular in the 1960s.

"No college has ever made any real effort to help them with their dialect problems," he said.

Thomas said he regrets that mountain culture is dying. He blames changes in society in the outside world in the past 65 to 75 years such as paved roads, radio and television, world wars, the telephone and travel.

"The mountain culture is about to vanish, but the dialect will continue almost indefinitely as a millstone around the mountain youth," he said.

Thomas believes the mountain folks' cultural values were brought to America by the British. The same values that helped the independent-spirited British cross the sea to come to a new world lives in the independent-spirited mountaineers, he said.

The preservation of some old English words and phrases is proof, he said.

He gives as an example the common use of double negatives or sometimes even quadruple negatives in a sentence, which he said can be traced back to Chaucer's use of English.

He said he interviewed one woman who was born in 1881 in the mountains of North Carolina. In relating a story about a man found dead, she

Oranges likely trouble cause

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have a problem with my stomach — three golf-ball-sized phytobezoars to be exact. I am not mentally ill — I hope — so have not ingested any hair or other matter.

After my gastrectomy in January, 1975, I ate anything that a normal person would eat. No solution to my problem is forthcoming other than surgery. I cannot survive another operation. The surgeon has said so and I know so. I'm 5 feet 7 and weigh 90 pounds. I'm a widow of 60 and live in an apartment with two cats and hold down a full time job.

Do you know of any medicine I might take that would dissolve these things? Right now I'm afraid to eat, period. Puree mostly.

Dear Reader — I suspect that the phytobezoars were formed from eating oranges. This problem occurs in a number of people after having an operation on the stomach — or cutting the vagus nerve to the stomach. They are masses of food fibers that are not digested. You are fortunate that these masses are in the stomach, and not obstructing the small intestine.

Among the foods that cause these are oranges (but not orange juice) figs, coconuts, apples, green beans, sauerkraut, berries, potato peel and brussels sprouts. These foods should all be avoided after surgery on the stomach.

The oranges may be chewed but the fibrous sacks refill with digestive juices and pectin to form masses. You might have the same problem with grapefruit.

Those in the stomach can be broken up and washed out. You may be surprised to learn that Adolph's Meat Tenderizer has been used to treat these.

Your doctors may be interested in a report on these and treatment by Dr. R.R. Buchholz of the VA Center in Temple, Tex. It is in Resident and Staff Physician (March 1976). In normal people who have had no stomach surgery these are quite rare, and are usually caused by persimmons.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I need your advice concerning our water supply. We had a well drilled with a rotary drill 120 feet deep. Our pump is 10 feet from the bottom. When we boil this water the utensil gets white and chalky from the calcium in the water.

We would like to know if that would have any effect on our health.

Dear Reader — No. The calcium won't hurt you. Some authorities think it might help you. With such a deep well you are not likely to have contamination from surface drainage, but for most home dug wells I would recommend having the water tested for possible contamination. The well must be adequately removed from any bacterial source such as barn yards in rural areas. Anyone who wants to have well water tested could check with the nearest public water department or county health office to find out how to get this done in his community.

Rhodesian raid draws criticism

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The white Rhodesian government was expected to ignore foreign criticism of its 60-mile raid into Mozambique, and there was no indication when the operation would end.

The military command said Tuesday that about 700 of its troops crossed the border by helicopter late Saturday in pursuit of black Rhodesian nationalists waging a guerrilla war against Prime Minister Ian Smith's regime from bases in Mozambique.

Military spokesmen said the raiders destroyed four guerrilla bases and seized the town of Mapai, 60 miles southeast of the border. They said they would hold the town until they

Fund-raiser wins a bike

Melanie Hoskins received a bicycle from Cecil's Cyclery as the top student fund-raiser in the recent local walk-a-thon to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Betty Bergan was the top adult money-raiser and received a crockette cooking appliance from the Rival Manufacturing Co. as her award.

Placing second, third and fourth, respectively, in the competition were Kevin Pletcher, Tom Kerr and Misti Koering. They each received three free games of bowling at Red Apple Lanes.

Roll Call Report

By Roll Call Report

WASHINGTON — Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 19-25:

HOUSE

AFRICAN AID — Rejected, 204 for and 208 against, an amendment to delete $100 million in special aid to certain black-ruled southern Africa countries. A vote for the amendment was a vote against the aid. It was proposed to HR 6884, a $3.2 billion military aid authorization later passed and sent to the Senate.

Although President Carter has final say in determining which countries share in the $100 million, among the likely recipients are Mozambique, Tanzania and Zambia. Sponsors of the aid said its purpose is to ease the burden of war and dislocation in southern Africa, and to help smooth the transition to inevitable black rule in Rhodesia.

Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., a supporter of the amendment, said the $100 million outlay amounted to "giving blood money from the American taxpayers' pockets to finance the Communist control of southern Africa."

Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., an opponent of the amendment, responded that "I would be the last to authorize funds to bail out Communist countries. Furthermore there is a prohibition in the law which prohibits assistance to Communist countries."

Reps. Ike Skelton and Richard Ichord voted yes.

CLEAN AIR — Adopted, 237 for and 172 against, an amendment aimed primarily at lowering federal clean air standards to permit additional pollution of so-called Class I areas. Those areas are defined by the Environmental Protection Agency as having "virtually pristine" air — national parks, monument and wilderness areas, for example.

The amendment was attached to HR 6161, the 1977 Clean Air Act Amendments, which was headed for final House passage and Senate consideration. It would also permit slight lowering of air quality in Class II areas.

The amendment, in part, gives a state governor authority to permit "degradation" of a Class I area for up to 18 days each year. One immediate effect would be to permit construction of power plants within pollution range of national parks.

Supporters and opponents agreed that it would probably allow building of the Inter-mountain Power Project outside of Capitol Reef National Park in Utah.

Supporters said the amendment would help to meet critical electricity needs without significantly lowering air quality. Rep. John Breaux, D-La., the sponsor, called it a "common sense" amendment.

Opponents argued that the 18-day limit was deceiving because the after-effects would linger much longer. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said that enactment of amendments like this one would make it "difficult for us to find out which of our mountain ranges is called the Great Smokies."

Ichord voted yes; Skelton did not vote.

CLEAN AIR — Rejected, 162 for and 242 against, an amendment to ease Environmental Protection Agency rules against additional industrial pollution in already-dirty areas. Those voting for the amendment favored delaying the EPA's "trade-off" policy. That policy says, in effect, that in dirty areas construction of a polluting plant is allowed only if pollution is decreased by an equal amount elsewhere in the area. The amendment sought to delay the trade-off requirement until completion of a year-long government anti-pollution study, thus allowing certain companies to proceed with planned construction.

Skelton favored aid change

Rep. Bob Gammage, D-Tex., the sponsor, said that if federal clean-air standards are too unyielding "the energy needs of this country cannot be met, and the economic stimulus proposals already dealt with by this body will become a farce."

Rep. Andrew Maguire, D-N.J., an opponent, said members should not forget that "we are talking about asthma and chronic lung disease, and irritation of the eye and respiratory tract, and impairing the function of the heart and lung and other organs."

Ichord voted yes; Skelton did not vote.

SENATE

FOOD STAMPS — Rejected, 31 for and 64 against, an amendment to retain the purchase requirement for obtaining food stamps. Defeat of the amendment left intact a fundamental change in the federal food stamp program — a recipient no longer would have to spend a threshold amount to obtain stamps. Presently, for example, a poor family of four might have to spend $120 of its own money to obtain food stamps valued at $166 at the grocery store. The new policy means the family would spend nothing but receive $46 worth of stamps.

Those senators voting against the amendment favored doing away with the purchase requirement. The amendment was proposed to S 275, a major farm bill. A companion bill awaits final action in the House.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., the sponsor, said the purchase requirement is "good discipline" and "good from the standpoint of diet," adding that to do away with it would greatly swell participation in and costs of the food stamp program.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., an opponent of the amendment, said that "banning the purchase requirement would completely eliminate the cash transactions which have a greater potential for abuse" and would "cut administrative costs" at all governmental levels.

Sens. Thomas Eagleton (D) and John Danforth (R) voted no.

WHEAT SUPPORTS — Rejected, 46 for and 50 against, an amendment to set the 1977 price support level for wheat at $2.65 per bushel rather than $2.90. The $2.65 figure is favored by the Administration and consistent with congressional budget ceilings. Defeat of the amendment left the $2.90 level intact as part of S 275, a major farm bill later passed. (See above vote.)

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Me., the sponsor, called the $2.90 figure budget-busting. "The (federal budget) deficit for fiscal 1978 is already projected at $64.6 billion," he said. "We simply cannot afford to push this deficit any higher."

Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., an opponent of the amendment, said: "Are wheat farmers to be hung — hung on the basis of budgetary objections? Or is survival for wheat farmers more important? I think it is in the national interest that we allow wheat farmers to survive."

Danforth voted yes and Eagleton voted no.

Bound for camp

These five deaf and hearing impaired children will be attending camp this summer for the first time thanks to the Sedalia Jaycees and several other organizations in Sedalia. The Jaycees presented a check for $500 to Miss Betsy Vannoy, standing center, to help defray the expenses of the camp. The Jaycees sitting left to right are Charlie Leichter, Dave Wiedeman, Bob Felten and standing is Mike Swain. The $500 is part of the proceeds of the Cattle Drive Days Rodeo held in May.

meeting adjourned

Rita Kenney was chosen president of the Sedalia chapter of the National Secretaries Association for the second consecutive year and was installed with the other officers at a Thursday evening meeting at Ramada Inn.

Other officers chosen by the group were Deborah Steele, president-elect; Joyce Aurig, vice president; Donna Berry, corresponding secretary; Paye Dawson, recording secretary; Claudine Moore, treasurer.

Iva Bettis, 1976-77 president-elect tendered her resignation as the result of her planned departure for the state of California in July.

Mrs. Kenney served as a delegate to the NSA division convention May 21 to 23 in Springfield and was elected to serve on the NSA Home Trust Committee. Joanne Kabler was chosen for the division auditing committee, Mary Bruns, CPS, to serve on the Certified Professional Secretaries committee and Betty Blackwell to served on the secretaries week committee.

It was reported that the annual NSA area forum for officers will be held June 18 at the Campus Inn, Columbia.

Mrs. William Schupp was the speaker at the Saturday meeting of the Osage chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She spoke on "Magazines of Yesteryear" and told of the contents of magazines such as "Delineator," "Woman's Home Companion," "Youth Companion," "Colliers," "Scribners," "Needlework" and "St. Nicholas."

These magazines, she explained, contained stories, poems, astrology, religion, recipes, helpful hints, home remedies and child care.

Before the days of television, movies, comic books and other diversions, Mrs. Schupp said that children read magazines, especially the serial stories such as "Little Women," "Little Men" and "Jo's Boys."

A memorial for members of the Osage chapter who had passed away in the last year was given by Miss Nell Longan, chaplain. Members remembered were Mrs. C. F. Scotten, Mrs. Homer Vance, Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, Mrs. Claude Crable, Mrs. George Rippey, Grandby, Colo., and Miss Lois Kendrick, Knob Noster.

Mrs. P. Cecil Owen, regent, gave a report on the D.A.R. Continental Congress, Washington, D.C. She mentioned that John Connally, former governor of Texas was the featured speaker.

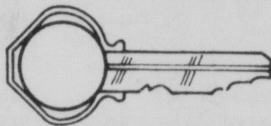

Winner

Miss Jana Green, daughter of Mrs. Janet Green, Route 2, was awarded a scholarship by the Smithton Jaycees. Miss Green graduated from Smithton High School on May 24.

Polly's pointers

Turn ties into quilts

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with advertisers and others who print instructions, etc. with black letters on a dark background. I admit I do have eye trouble but I have heard others with good eyes make the same complaint. — RUTH

DEAR POLLY — I am an professional registered engineer answering Mrs. C.L.R. who wants to repair her old pump type reed organ. I am pleased to advise her that the best way to restore these old organs is to install an electric suction fan to take the place of the bellows. — W.D.S.

living today

DEAR POLLY — Today almost everyone wears a wig at one time or another. One of the problems is hair escaping, particularly in front of the ears. This is more often the case with the new short wigs and with the petite head sizes. I cut off one foot of old panty hose, about 14 to 16 inches from the toe, and stretch this over my hair, tuck it in and roll it up as far as I want. I secure the back and sides of the hose with bobby pins although it holds firm without them. Put the wig over this hair holder and find no hair shows. The wig also stays in place tighter and does not slip. — MRS. A.B.S.

Polly's problems

DEAR POLLY — I have heard of people making beautiful quilts from old ties but I do not know how to put them together to make a quilt. I wonder if you or some of the readers have a pattern for making such a quilt or other ideas for using old neckties. — KATHY

DEAR KATHY — The charm of such a quilt is mainly dependent on your own originality. First, open, clean and press the ties to see how many you have and if there are enough for an entire quilt, or just for appliques on plain squares. With a quantity of ties one could make an old-fashioned "crazy" quilt such as our ancestors did. Pieces could be cut in squares or rectangles, sewed together on the wrong side and then briar-stitched on the top over the seams. A sunburst, star or other design could be applied to squares that would be later sewn together on the wrong side. Carefully place the design on a foundation square, pin and then baste before sewing. Always join such pieces from the center out for a nice true result. — POLLY

Merrell calls came before appointment

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — State Sen. Norman Merrell made long distance telephone calls at state expense to a Shelby beauty shop owner before she was appointed to the state cosmetology board, according to published reports Tuesday.

A survey of Merrell's telephone records last week showed the Monticello Democrat charged the taxpayers more than $850 for more than 3,500 minutes of long distance calls in 1976 to Mrs. Carlene Orr after she was appointed to the state Board of Cosmetology. Merrell said those calls were on state business.

But reports in the Columbia Tribune and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch Tuesday said that Merrell was calling Mrs. Orr on his Senate credit card in 1975 before she was appointed to the board and before she had a direct interest in state affairs.

Merrell said most of those calls related to constituent problems. Shelby is located in northwest Missouri in the district Merrell represents.

During May and June of 1975, Merrell, who is president pro tem of the Senate, placed to or received from Shelby more than 600 minutes of long distance calls at a cost of nearly $175, the newspapers reported.

The cosmetology board is responsible for licensing the state's 37,000 hairdressers, cosmetologists and manicurists. Mrs. Orr was appointed to the board by then-Gov. Christopher S. Bond in October 1975.

Al Sikes, who at that time was director of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing, said that Merrell had recommended Mrs. Orr's appointment.

Mrs. Orr was named executive secretary to the board two weeks ago in a disputed vote proceeding in which she, as a member of the board, voted for her own hiring. Atty. Gen. John Ashcroft has questioned the manner in which Mrs. Orr was employed.

George Uffmann, the former director of the Division of Professional Registration which oversees the board, resigned his position saying Merrell and another senator interfered in the board's activities to get Mrs. Orr hired.

Six persons die in crash

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Six persons were killed near here Tuesday in a one-car crash, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

Authorities said Willie T. Young, 30, of Chicago apparently went to sleep at the wheel of his car about 5:50 a.m. and struck a concrete bridge pillar on Interstate 57. Young died of his injuries about four hours later.

The other victims were identified as Young's wife, Patricia Ann, 30; a daughter, Nicole, 7; a son Willie T. Jr., 6; Young's half-brother Terry L. Smith, 17, of Collierville, Tenn.; and Mrs. Young's brother, Ronnie Stone, 11, also of Collierville. The passengers were killed instantly.

Charleston is in Mississippi County, about 150 miles south of St. Louis.

Booze, birth defects linked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The more alcohol a pregnant woman drinks, the more she risks giving birth to a deformed baby, the government is warning.

A federal alcohol abuse agency says women who consume an average of six drinks a day during pregnancy run a "decided risk" of having deformed or retarded children. Six drinks contain the equivalent of three ounces of grain alcohol.

Pregnant women who take from two to six drinks daily have a lesser chance of giving birth to babies with such problems, and studies show that pregnant women who consume less than two drinks a day pose little threat to their offspring, a government spokesman said.

The National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism delivered its "health caution" at a news conference Wednesday. A spokesman said Dr. Ernest Noble, agency director, would recommend that pregnant women and women of childbearing age discuss their drinking habits with their doctors.

The spokesman said there are more than 100 studies which show a link between a pregnant woman's alcoholic intake and malformed or retarded infants.

Meanwhile, the National Council on Alcoholism said Tuesday it will launch a nationwide campaign warning women of the dangers of drinking during pregnancy.

Council officials said at a news conference in New York City "a safe decision" for a pregnant woman would be to abstain from alcohol.

"Although it is not definitely known whether social drinking produces abnormalities in infants, the alcoholism researchers are sufficiently convinced that excessive drinking during pregnancy incurs a high risk of fetal malformation and mental retardation," they said.

Dr. Joseph Cruse of the University of Southern California said that of 3.1 million live births expected in the United States next year, 250,000 babies are likely to be born with congenital abnormalities. He said 6,000 such cases may be due to what is called "fetal alcohol syndrome."

Symptoms of fetal alcohol syndrome include growth retardation, especially of the head, as well as heart defects and congenital eye and ear problems.

Cruse put the risk of fetal alcohol syndrome defects at 10 per cent if a woman drinks between two and four ounces of hard liquor daily.

The rate could go as high as 74 per cent for those who drink 10 ounces a day, he said.

He recommended that women who are pregnant not drink at all.

Teasdale says choice to relate to problems

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Joseph Teasdale said Tuesday that the black woman he appointed to the Public Service Commission would be capable of understanding the problems of the poor and the middle class.

Mrs. Leah Brock McCartney, 63, of University City, will "truly represent the people I've been speaking about in the campaign," Teasdale said when he announced the appointment of the Kinloch municipal court judge to the commission Tuesday.

The governor said he had been specifically looking for a black to serve on the PSC. He also said Mrs. McCartney, who is believed to be the first black to be appointed to the commission, supported Teasdale in his unsuccessful gubernatorial campaign in 1972.

Teasdale also said Commission Chairman James P. Mulvaney, whose continuation on the utility-regulating panel was in doubt earlier this month because of an offhand remark made by the governor, has agreed to accept appointment of a full six-year term as chairman.

Mulvaney confirmed that the disagreement between Teasdale and himself had been resolved and that he agreed to accept the term. Mulvaney had told the governor last week that he wanted to delay any decision on future PSC service until he saw who Teasdale's other PSC appointments would be.

The governor said, however, that he would not be able to name a replacement for Commissioner A. Robert Pierce, who will resign June 13, until after the legislature adjourns June 15.

His nominee will serve the remainder of Pierce's term until next January, when the Senate must give its consent or rejection to the selection.

Mulvaney said he had discussed potential candidates with top aides to the governor last week and was notified about Mrs. McCartney's selection prior to its announcement.

"I haven't met the lady yet, but I understand she's well qualified," Mulvaney said. He added that the other potential nominees under consideration by Teasdale were also "well qualified," but he declined to disclose any of their names.

An attorney, Mrs. McCartney has served as a Kinloch municipal judge since 1973. A graduate of the George Washington University school of law, she has been a visiting law professor at Tulsa University and she taught law at Florida A&M University.

The wife of minister who just moved from St. Louis to Kansas City, Mrs. McCartney has given her pledge to be "fair and ever sympathetic to the needs of the consumer," Teasdale said.

Too much attention to victimless crimes

WASHINGTON — A few weeks ago Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell ruled that an alcoholic is a "handicapped" person in terms of the treatment he or she is entitled to under the new HEW guidelines.

Rowan

That ruling may be applauded by some as compassionate and wise, but it sure doesn't square with the treatment given to alcoholics by law enforcement people around the nation. More than 12 million Americans were arrested for public drunkenness in 1975.

If alcoholism is a sickness, a "handicap," under our laws, how do we justify locking people up for merely revealing their handicap in public?

I am moved to this comment by a recent report by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency which again deplores the fact that our law enforcement officials spend an incredible amount of time arresting people for victimless crimes. In 1975, while violent criminals, organized mobsters and white-collar crooks ran amok, 38 per cent of all arrests in the U.S. were for public drunkenness, disorderly conduct, narcotic drug offenses, liquor law violations, running away, curfew and loitering offenses, gambling, vagrancy, suspicion and prostitution.

The National Council on Crime and Delinquency has been campaigning to have removed from the criminal code the laws that create "crimes" where there are no victims. The new report suggests some progress over the last six years — but far from enough.

Twenty-five states have now decriminalized public drunkenness. Legislation to decriminalize marijuana has been introduced in as many states, even as the number of Americans using marijuana has jumped to 15 million. Still, marijuana arrests jumped from 20,000 in 1965 to 445,600 in 1974, accounting for nearly 70 per cent of all drug arrests. New York's legislature recently refused to decriminalize marijuana.

The national schizophrenia regarding gambling is dismaying. Thirteen of our states operate lotteries, 32 have legal pari-mutuel wagering, three permit off-track betting operations. Americans gamble at least $17 billion a year in these legal places. Yet in every one of these states police are constantly arresting participants in friendly crap games (generally only in poorer neighborhoods!) and jailing those who operate pools and jackpots on football games and other sporting events.

More than 62,000 people were arrested for gambling in 1975.

In the same period some 68,000 persons were arrested for prostitution, three out of four of those seized being young women who not only had no victim of their "crimes" but who were doing their male customers a favor.

The National Council points out that San Francisco recently stopped prosecuting prostitutes. Maine no longer imposes prison terms and several Nevada counties have legalized sex-for-money.

One need not approve of prostitution, drunkenness, marijuana use or gambling to know that this society wastes too many police man-hours and too much money on victimless crimes. New Jersey spends $2.2 million a year to pay policemen and court costs relating to the arrests of 44,000 public drunks.

It is a lot easier to arrest a drunk or a prostitute (thus fattening the "success" statistics) than it is to go after organized hoodlums, or white-collar criminals who are bribing public officials or ripping off medical, food stamp and other programs set up to help the poor.

There can be no meaningful alleviation of our massive crime problem unless we develop a sensible set of targets for our law enforcement people. The National Council is right when it says that alcoholics and nymphomaniacs ought not be No. 1 on any police department's "most wanted" list.

Chicago sans Daley not same

By MARTHA ANGLE and ROBERT WALTERS

CHICAGO (NEA) — The first tipoff came on the ride into town. The motorcade bearing Vice President Mondale to the city's most sacred political event took almost 50 minutes to travel through rush hour traffic from O'Hare Airport in to the Loop.

For ordinary mortals, that would be spectacularly good time. For a Democratic VIP of Mondale's stature, it was unthinkable. Mayor Richard J. Daley would have blocked every freeway entrance with cops — the public's convenience be damned — and whisked his guest to the Cook County Democratic Dinner in 30 minutes flat.

But Richard J. Daley is in his grave, and nothing is quite the same in Chicago these days. Despite herculean efforts by Da Mare's successors to suppress the evidence, it is clear the Cook County Democratic organization has a bad case of the shakes.

A faint air of paranoia permeated the annual dinner attended by more than 7,000 Organization stalwarts last week. Acting Mayor Michael A. Bilandic and County Chairman George W. Dunne, who now share the two hats Daley wore alone, presided over the festivities with all the verve of men fearing a sneak hit by the mob.

But the city alone can no longer deliver Illinois to the Democrats. The Carter-Mondale ticket came out of Chicago last November with a 67 per cent victory, the best showing of any Democratic presidential candidate since the Lyndon Johnson landslide of 1964. But the Democrats took only 54 per cent of Cook County, which includes the suburbs, and lost Illinois to Gerald Ford by 112,974 votes.

The machine can still produce, but there are fewer and fewer Chicago voters to deliver each year. Election statistics compiled by political analyst Richard Scammon show the total city vote has declined by one-third, or 615,000 people, since 1952.

Since 1960, when Chicago provided the edge that gave John F. Kennedy the Illinois electoral vote and the presidential election, the city vote has declined from 36 per cent of the statewide total to 26 per cent as of 1976.

The diminution of Chicago's political clout stems partly from demographic shifts — the population drain to the suburbs typical of all big American cities — and partly from the changing composition of the voters who remain.

The Irish and Polish-Americans who were the bedrock of Daley's machine still control city politics, but there is an ever-growing black population in Chicago with a far lower voter turnout record. The times, they are a-changing, for better or worse.

Again and again, they insisted that nothing has changed with Daley's death. "We are going to continue to do the things we were taught to do in the past 21 years," Bilandic told party foot soldiers over a microphone which promptly malfunctioned as the mayor's minions spluttered.

Yet even as the party chieftains promised continuity, Mondale's presence was a silent reminder that Chicago is losing its grip on the national Democratic party — no matter how well the machine holds together internally.

Mondale was at the Cook County dinner solely because Jimmy Carter turned down the invitation following Daley's death. No Democratic president ever refused to come at Daley's command, and Carter's snub rankled deeply.

Whatever happens in Chicago in the months and years ahead, it now seems certain that its Democratic organization will no longer dominate the calculations of national party presidential candidates and conventions.

"I think when they put Daley in the ground, it was probably the last time anybody had to go there," said one Washington political professional who has managed several Democratic presidential candidates in the past.

"There's nobody there with Daley's national clout," he said. "Who the hell is George Dunne? Or Mike Bilandic?"

Chicago will still be a "must" stop on the campaign trail for Democratic presidential nominees, simply because it represents the biggest bloc of Democratic votes in a vital swing state.

'Gay rights' issue faces Miami vote

Next Tuesday the voters of Dade County, Florida, will go to the polls in a special election. The impact of that vote, however, will be felt well beyond the limits of Miami and its environs.

At issue is the county's anti-discrimination law, which, among other groups, bars discrimination against homosexuals, particularly in the area of employment. Soon after its passage four months ago, the law became the target of an organization called Save Our Children, which mounted a petition drive to bring the law to a referendum.

SOC focused on the area of education, pointing out that the law would prohibit refusing employment to homosexual teachers strictly on the basis of their sexual orientation. Its chief spokesman, singer Anita Bryant, took to the barricades in denouncing the county ordinance.

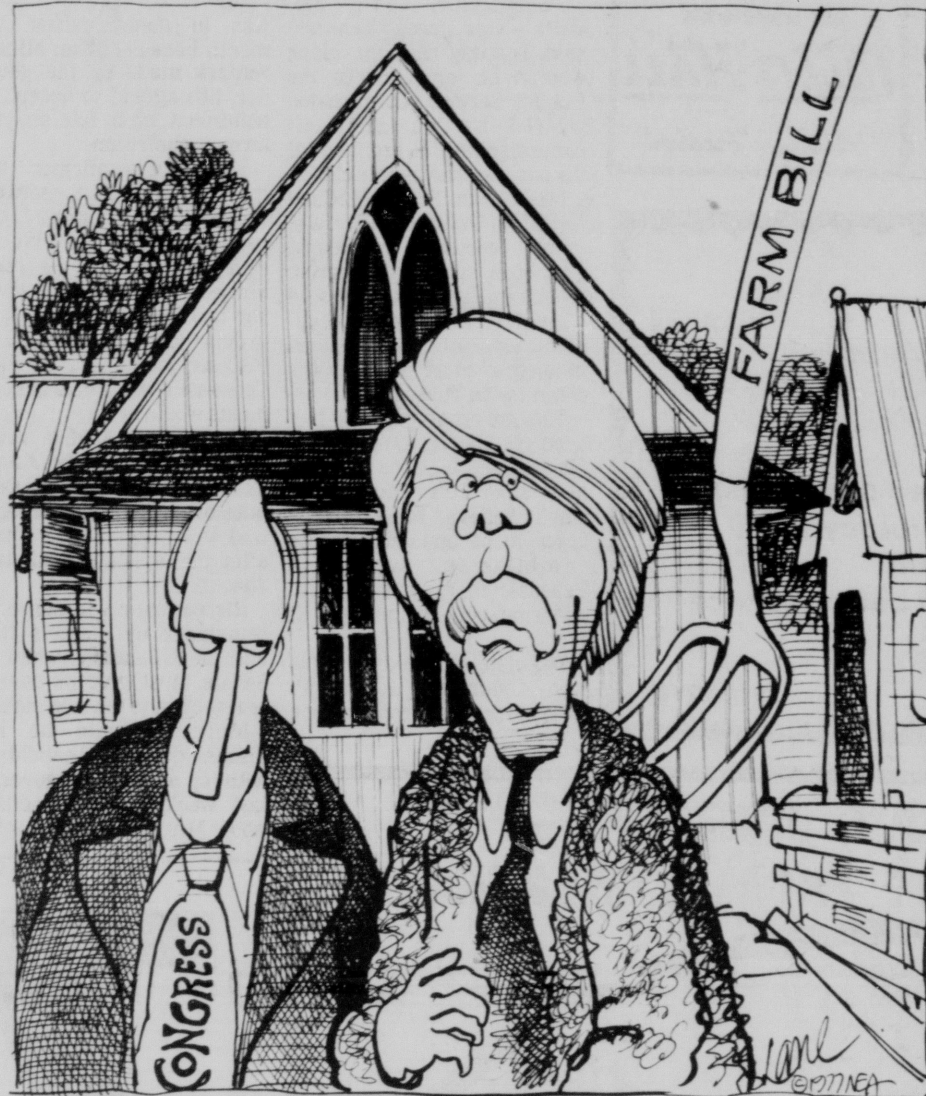

But the gays, a significant factor in the Miami area, have not been idle. At last report they had put together a larger advertising budget than SOC, and voters are currently being subjected to a media blitz from both sides. Some radical chic luminaries, such as Jane Fonda and Gloria Steinem, even poet Rod McKuen, have been in Miami recently to support the ordinance and/or ridicule Miss Bryant.

SOC points out that teachers, as authority figures and models, are often emulated by impressionable school children, and to place homosexuals in such positions would be an investment in social suicide. Gays respond that teachers should be hired strictly on the basis of their professional qualifications, and, besides, no self-respecting homosexual would take advantage of his position to recruit young people.

But the facts speak otherwise. Some of the sordid revelations that have come to light in recent reports on the shocking traffic in so-called "kiddy porn" in America indicate that homosexuals play a prominent part in this deplorable business. Homosexual scoutmasters, rectors of boys homes and others involved in child pornography have been exposed in recent weeks. Homosexual teachers would prove no different; indeed, by virtue of their positions they would be able to do the gravest damage of all.

We expect Dade Countians will recognize this fact, and will repeal the ordinance in question with plenty of votes to spare.

American Gothic

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — To the dismay of Sammy Davis Jr., millions of Americans vividly remember the moment at the 1972 Republican convention when he rushed up to an awkward Richard Nixon and impulsively hugged him.

Davis is not eager to embrace another president in public. We asked him the other day what he thought of Jimmy Carter. The entertainer winced. "I've had my shot," he said. "Let someone else decide."

In fact, there is no great American stampede to embrace President Carter. We have spoken to thousands of people, including a host of celebrities, about the new President. The jury is still out.

In lecture halls across the country, the audiences wondered what Carter is really like. They asked about the man beneath the surface amiability.

Explanation on fire

I have a deep heartfelt sympathy for my friend and neighbor who lost his wife and daughter in the tragic fire Friday afternoon.

I do want to clarify and correct some of the statements about the Otterville Rural Fire Department in the stories about the fire in Saturday's Capital and Sunday's Democrat. This family became members of the Otterville Rural Fire Department when they bought their farm, the membership being transferred with the farm. The annual dues are $10 per year. There are no monthly dues. The original membership fee is $25 but in this case did not apply as it was transferred with the farm. Last June 1976 when dues became payable he told me they had discussed it and did not want the protection from the fire department, therefore

Merry-go-round

Jury is still out on Jimmy Carter

He has declared his intention to revive the flagging faith in the American system and to rescue the people from the mire of cynicism. He has sought to portray himself as a man of simplicity, who believes in the fundamental virtues and disdains pomp and circumstance.

This has made a favorable impression on most of the people we have talked to. But they are still holding back their verdict. The Rev. Jesse Jackson summarized the general mood; his slogan, he told us, is "Carter with caution."

The charismatic Jackson had high praise for Carter's stand on human rights but was sharply critical of his economic policies. The President is more concerned about controlling inflation and balancing the budget than creating jobs for the poor, complained the black leader.

Others evaded comment with an amusing quip. "I think Carter's doing admirably," TV host Dick Cavett told us. "He's avoided making any major blunders, like granting a pardon to David Frost."

Johnny Carson, speaking "from a comedian's point of view," said: "Carter's the kind of person we've all been waiting for. I get the feeling he rented his whole family. They're just too perfect."

David Frost, of course, said he would like to interview President Carter — an idea the British television star has taken up quietly with the President's media man, Barry Jagoda.

Boxing champ Muhammad Ali told us Carter is already "one of the best presidents in the history of the country." Explained the champ: "Carter speaks for the people even when it's unpopular. That's the sign of a spiritual man. He's not proud and he doesn't try to be great. He gets on the street with the common people."

The President appears, added Ali wryly, "to be as good a man as a politician can be."

Feminist crusader Gloria Steinem was also impressed with the Carter style. But she complained that Carter's belated support of the Equal Rights Amendment came too late to help. She also griped about several of Carter's cabinet choices, particularly Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano, whom she accuses of being "weak" on women's issues.

But so far, Steinem reflected, "I'm not sorry I worked for Carter."

Actor Robert Redford felt the President was a "well-intentioned" man with "good instincts." Redford also liked Carter's efforts "to reach the people in pure populist fashion."

Reitz supplies power

Cards cut Cub lead to 1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If it weren't for playing baseball, says Ken Reitz, he might be selling hot dogs at Candlestick Park in his native San Francisco.

The Chicago Cubs, after absorbing the sting of his hot bat, probably wish the dark-haired infielder would go any place that would put them safely out of his reach.

Reitz, whom the St. Louis Cardinals reacquired from the San Francisco Giants last winter, slugged his seventh home run of the year and fourth in five games Tuesday night.

When the damage of the blast was added to two singles, it totaled three runs that contributed the most to a 6-0 Cards triumph further tightening standings in the National League East.

"I'm swinging the same bat. I'm just stronger than I used to be," maintained Reitz, a slickfielding third baseman, after concluding a month-long siege during which he hit 366 and drove in 23 runs.

"I don't even think about hitting seven home runs for the season. I just want to help this team as much as I can," he added. "We've got a good ball club. The Cubs are just like us in that nobody picked them to do anything either."

Reitz' production, boosting his RBI count to 31, pulled St. Louis a game back of Chicago and into second place in the NL East.

"I'd say so right now," said Cards Manager Vern Rapp when asked if the 25-year-old former Gold Glove recipient should challenge for an All-Star berth.

"I said that on the bench during the game," recalled Rapp. "I'm not interested in the other guys who are qualified. I'm only interested in Reitz."

Reitz' hits in support of John Denny's pitching included a two-run single that climaxed a three-run St. Louis burst against Bill Bonham, 6-4, in the opening inning.

He singled with two out during a scoreless third, then fanned in the fifth before belting his home run into the right field seats off reliever Willie Hernandez in the eighth.

"That's the first one I ever hit to right field except in Chicago and Montreal with the wind blowing out," mused Reitz, a right-handed hitter who raised his average to .302.

"I think this is attributable to my slow start, when I was trying too hard," added Reitz. "The first hit I got up the middle I was as happy with as the homer, because it gave us a cushion."

Denny, backed by Reitz' assault, pitched a five-hitter and improved his record to 7-0 with his first complete game of the season.

"I thought about it," said the tall right-hander of his nine-inning accomplishment. "I think it was about the sixth inning when I said, 'I've got to get this game and get the shutout too.'"

Blazers not celebrating until after final game

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Blazermania may be sweeping the city of Portland, but all is calm with the young basketball team.

"I'm not impressed," said a grim-faced Maurice Lucas after the Trail Blazers routed the Philadelphia 76ers 130-98 Tuesday night, tying their National Basketball Association championship best-of-seven series 2-2.

"I won't be impressed until we win the final game," the 6-foot-9 Portland forward said. "I'm not excited, just ready."

Lucas and his teammates had everything their way in Game Four. Guard Lionel Hollins, who hit just four of 17 shots in the third game of the series, made nine of 16 Tuesday night and led all scorers with 25 points. Lucas had 24 points and 12 rebounds. And both sat out most of the final quarter as Coach Jack Ramsay employed his reserves.

But there were no whoops of joy or wild celebrations in the Portland locker room.

"The margin of victory is not significant," cautioned Ramsay. "It's just a victory. We're now in a three-game series and two of the games are on Philadelphia's court."

He meant that two straight home-court triumphs had gotten the Blazers back where they started when the series began, needing a victory on the 76ers' court. They will get their chance Friday night in Game Five.

"We're not a very emotional team," said Blazers guard Dave Twardzik. "When Philadelphia won that first game, you would have thought it was the seventh game of the series the way they acted."

If the Blazers were not impressed by their own awesome show of basketball strength Tuesday night, the 76ers were.

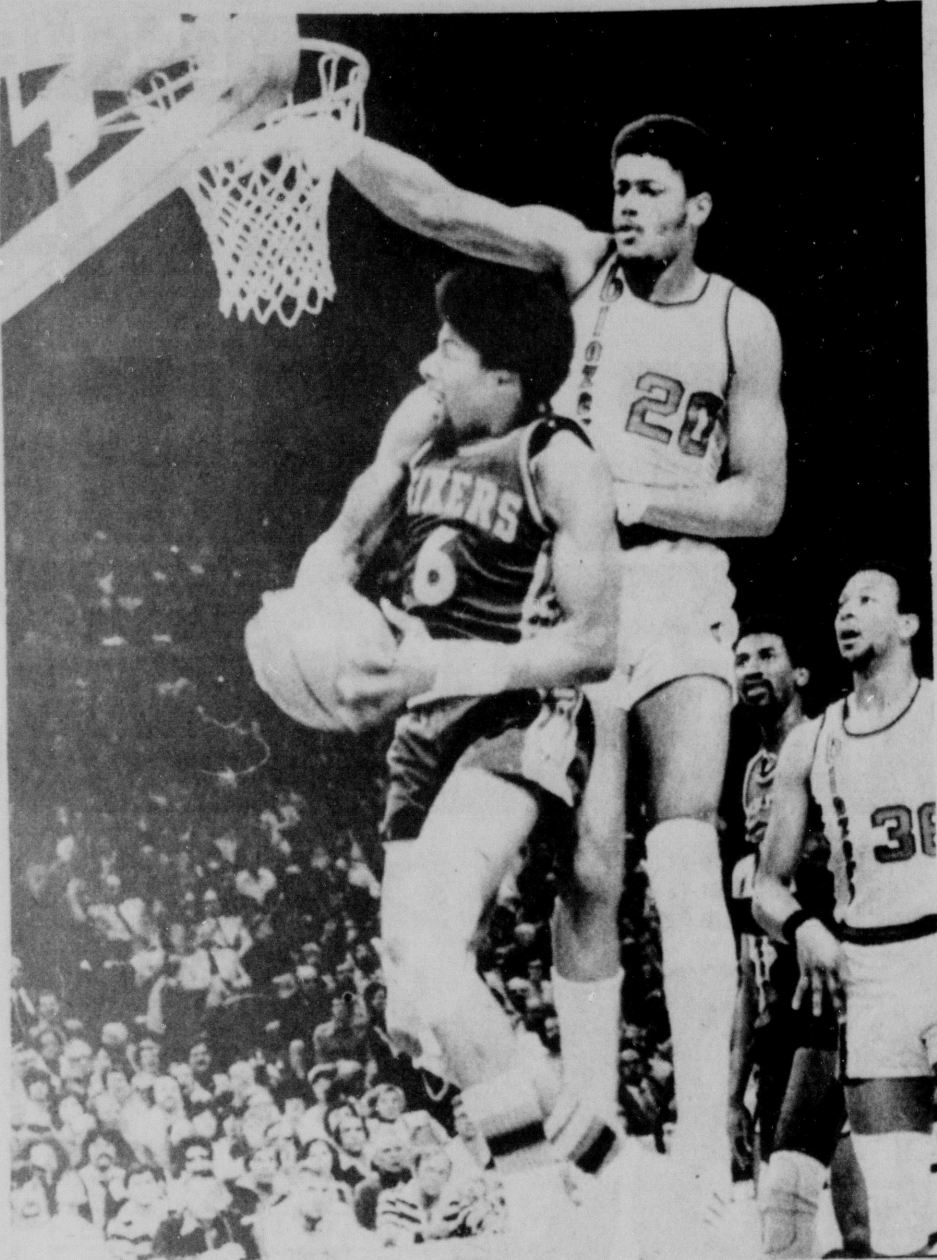

"Every time they touched the ball it went in," sighed Philadelphia's Darryl Dawkins. "We were blitzed."

The Blazers hit nine of their first 10 shots, ripped open a 19-4 lead five minutes into the game, and Philadelphia never got any closer than 11 points after that.

"Portland was super, absolutely super," said 76ers Coach Gene Shue. "They took control early. They threw us out of whatever we wanted to do. They were in complete control. In fact, it was barely a game."

It appeared Philadelphia would get a chance to make a run at the Blazers when Portland's Bill Walton drew his fifth foul and left the game with 7:02 remaining in the third quarter and the 76ers trailing 71-57.

"I knew I had to get the rebounds and play good defense," said Lloyd Neal, who had 11 rebounds.

Don't try it

Portland's Maurice Lucas, 20, goes high above Julius Erving of the Philadelphia 76ers and stops him from going to the basket during their NBA Championship game Tuesday night. The Blazers beat Philadelphia 130-98 to even the series at two games each.

Closing on Dodgers

Reds down Braves 5-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dave Bristol says he has a right to kick. Lee Weyer says he has the right to kick, too.

Kick Dave Bristol, that is.

"Bristol bumped me," said the National League umpire. "Bumping an umpire usually carries a suspension. You can't take that Bristol said to me, 'You haven't given us anything in eight years.' I told him I'm just out there to call them right."

This electric exchange and subsequent banishment of the Atlanta manager took place Tuesday night after a controversial call in the eighth inning kept a Cincinnati rally alive and helped the Reds beat the Braves 5-3.

Bristol insisted that Cincinnati's Ken Griffey was out trying to steal second. But Weyer called him safe, inducing Bristol to come charging out of the dugout.

Bristol expressed fears that Weyer has a "vendetta" against him. It was Weyer who threw Bristol out of a game last year in one of the more boisterous incidents of the 1976 season.

"Griffey's spikes were caught in my glove," insisted Atlanta shortstop Jerry Royster. "It was a crime. Really — he was out."

After Griffey stole second, he moved to third on a wild pitch and scored when Cesar Geronimo hit a two-run single for the Reds' ultimate winning runs.

"Well," sighed Bristol, "the Reds are back in the pennant race — and they certainly don't need any help from the umpires."

The victory, combined with Los Angeles' 5-2 loss to the Houston Astros, moved the Reds within 9½ games of the front-running Dodgers in the National League West. They have not been that close since May 5.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Chicago Cubs 6-0, the New York Mets defeated the Montreal Expos 6-2 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the San Francisco Giants 4-2.

Astros 5, Dodgers 2

Julio Gonzalez' seventh-inning single snapped a 2-2 tie and ignited a three-run rally as Houston defeated slumping Los Angeles.

J.R. Richard fired a seven-hitter as the Dodgers dropped their fourth straight game.

Twins beat Orioles

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

It just took a little time — and 12 Minnesota hits — for Pete Redfern to gain his second victory of the season.

"Redfern has worked very hard trying to get his normal delivery," said Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch after his American League West Division-leading Twins defeated the Baltimore Orioles, leaders in the East, 8-3 Tuesday night.

"I just wanted to throw strikes," Redfern said. "It's been hard getting my rhythm back, but I had it against Baltimore and I just hope I'll be able to pitch like that every time out."

Redfern, who won his first game in more than seven weeks, needed relief help in the ninth inning. But it was the Minnesota hitters who gave him the support.

Six Minnesota players drove in runs. The other two runs scored on an error.

In other AL games, Detroit defeated Oakland 5-2, California nipped Cleveland 7-6 in 10 innings and Boston downed the New York Yankees 5-1.

The Twins defeated their long-time nemesis Rudy May, 6-5, chasing the left-hander with a four-run sixth inning that gave Redfern a 7-1 cushion. May entered the game with a 13-7 lifetime record against the Twins, including a shutout over them last Friday.

Tigers 5, A's 2

Eighth-inning home runs by Mickey Stanley and Milt May powered Detroit over Oakland and snapped the Tigers' six-game losing streak.

A two-run seventh-inning rally against loser Vida Blue, 3-6, put Detroit ahead 3-1. Stanley and May homered off reliever Bob Lacey.

Switzer says NCAA revolt a possibility

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Oklahoma football Coach Barry Switzer says there may be some surprises later this month when the 56-member College Football Association meets in Atlanta. One of those surprises, he says, could see the schools turn thumbs down on their National Collegiate Athletic Association membership.

Switzer said Tuesday the exodus from the NCAA could come because there is serious opposition to two current association rules. One is a limit on the number of coaches, the other a limit on players.

"I had to cut eight boys out of our program to get down to the 95 limit," Switzer complained. He said that rule was especially hard on his team, "because we don't have the attrition at Oklahoma that other schools do. When we sign up boys, they stay."

Switzer said the coaching limit of eight hurts recruiting more than any other area, and is keeping coaches like Alex Agase and Bill Battles out of work.

In the past, Switzer said, college coaches would "take care of their own" by giving their colleagues jobs as assistants until a head coaching job came along.

"But we can't, and that's wrong," Switzer said.

Some schools are particularly upset that NCAA rules allow them to award 30 scholarships each year while limiting a team's size to 95 players, a rule they say means "four times 30 equals 95."

Scott Young of San Diego State glances at his feet to see if he clears 6-9½ in the 1977 NCAA Decathlons Tuesday. Young, who cleared the height to win the high jump event, stood in fourth place at the end of the first round of events.

New format, more cash for July sprint races

A record $20,000 purse is posted for the Third Annual Missouri Sprint Nationals to be run July 15-16 at the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

Drivers from across the country are expected for the two-day super-sprint classic.

The format for this year's program has been changed, and drivers will qualify each night. Both Friday and Saturday shows consist of five 12-car heat races, a 20-lap B feature and a 30-lap A feature.

No wings will be allowed Friday night, while wings are optional on Saturday.

The winner of Saturday's 30-lap main event will pick up a check for $3,000, but the Missouri Sprint National title will go to the highest point winner during the two-day show.

Race organizer Dale Hassler says that this year's format should be welcomed by both drivers and fans.

"A bad qualifying effort or mechanical trouble on Friday night is completely washed out with another round of qualifying on Saturday. And the fans get to see two complete cards with the drivers holding the option of running wings on Saturday."

Hassler added, "It's only the fastest 60 cars each night that make the program."

Defending champion Rick Ferkel of Tiffin, Ohio, and first Sprint National Champ Gary Scott of Holts Summit, Mo., are expected to enter this year's race.

Tickets go on sale Friday, June 17, at Capital Speedway in Holts Summit, and all seats in the grandstand will be on a first come, first served basis with no reserve seating.

Torre takes Met helm, team responds with win

NEW YORK (AP) Forty-four games into the 1977 baseball season, the New York Mets have decided to start all over again.

So, forget if you can that 15-29 record that was the worst in the major leagues. Remember instead that under new Manager Joe Torre, the Mets are undefeated.

The new start, after all, had to begin somewhere. The Mets decided the best place would be in the manager's office.

So Torre was named pilot of the club Tuesday night and broke in with that rarest of Shea Stadium commodities, a 6-2 victory over the Montreal Expos. It was a game in which the Mets hustled from start to finish, another commodity that had not always been in evidence this season.

The Mets had lost six straight, and nine of 10 under Manager Joe Frazier when time ran out on him. Worse than the losing streak, the team seemed to lack incentive.

"It makes an awfully long year if you quit in May," said Torre.

The club seemed to retract its collective resignation after the change in pilots. A 12-hit attack that included three doubles and a triple made it almost easy, even though Torre didn't think so.

"It's easier playing, I think," he said.

But his new job was not exactly a surprise to him. The Mets' brass had asked him out about managing more than a week ago when the club started going sour. And Torre, who received a contract for the balance of this season as well as 1978 and 1979, starting doing his homework early.

One assignment was versatile Lenny Randle, who has played a half-dozen positions.

"I tried to be inconspicuous about it," said Torre. "I kind of casually asked him if he had ever played third base."

Randle, who had a single, double and two walks and scored twice Tuesday night, recalled the conversation.

"I told him I had and then I asked him why," the utilityman said. "He told me he had a bet. I said 'Well, you win.'"

But Randle was smart enough to know something was up.

"Then I told him there were only two places I hadn't been on a baseball field — in the bullpen and behind the bat. And I said, 'Please don't put me there.'"

For the moment, Randle does not have to worry about that. Torre plans to use him as the regular third baseman with veteran Felix Millan, benched in Frazier's final weeks, returning to fulltime duty at second. John Milner, platooned by Frazier, will be the regular first baseman. He celebrated that move with a pair of broken-bat singles against the Expos that drove in three runs.

"I was nervous and excited," said Torre. "It was gratifying to win. Not playing much the last couple of years, I haven't had much personal gratification."

Torre, who will be 37 next month, becomes one of the youngest managers in recent major league history. "It's strange," he said. "In one day, I go from an old player to a young manager."

French Open

PARIS — Guillermo Vilas of Argentina ousted Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C. 6-1, 6-2, 6-1 in advancing to the quarter-finals of the French Open Tennis Championships.

Infielder signs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have signed infielder Tommy Sandt, 26, to a contract.

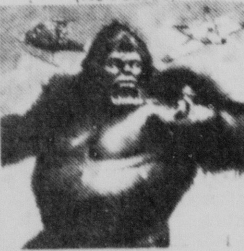

Sandt became a free agent May 9 and has been playing with the Cardinals' New Orleans farm club. In 13 games at New Orleans, he hit .323 with three home runs.

The shortstop was declared a free agent as a result of a grievance filed against the Oakland Athletics in a dispute over renewal of his 1976 contract.

Foster honored

NEW YORK — George Foster of the Cincinnati Reds, who hit seven home runs and drove in nine runs, was named the National League's Player of the Week for the period ending May 30.

Yavapai still unbeaten in juco baseball action

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Yavapai, Ariz., behind the strong pitching of righthander Rick Kranitz, has emerged as the team to beat with the field narrowed to four teams in the National Junior College Baseball Tournament.

With Kranitz firing a five-hitter and striking out 12, Yavapai whipped Grand Rapids, Mich., 9-0 Tuesday night. The victory left the Arizona school as the only unbeaten team in the double-elimination tournament.

In other action Tuesday, Mike Tice and Doug Casey hit solo homers and drove in three runs apiece, leading DeKalb South, Ga., over Iowa Western 12-8 and ousting the Iowa team from the tournament.

Grand Rapids hopes to rebound today when it meets DeKalb, while Yavapai tangles with Meramec, Mo., tonight.

Yavapai capitalized on eight Grand Rapids errors to help give Kranitz his ninth victory against two losses. It was his second triumph in the tournament.

Rightfielder Billy Ireland drove in three runs, including two with a ninth-inning triple, and Dave Guimbarda added two RBIs for the Arizona school, which has won its last three games by scores of 9-1, 9-0 and 9-0.

Jack Scholten went the distance for Grand Rapids, absorbing the loss. Tom Shupe had two hits for the losers.

DeKalb punched out 18 hits, including four by Marc Goodson, who is the tournament's leading hitter with nine hits in 16 at-bats. Goodson's string of eight straight hits was broken when he struck out in the ninth inning.

The Decatur, Ga., team, getting back-to-back triples by Tice and Leonard Thompson, went ahead 5-0 in the third inning. Iowa Western rallied within 5-4 with three runs in the third on a two-run double by Packy Addison and Kyle Rich's RBI single. But DeKalb spurred to an insurmountable 9-4 advantage after five innings.

Iowa Western pinch-hitter Jim Parminster hit a two-run homer in the ninth to account for the final margin.

Teams earlier eliminated from the competition were Umpqua, Ore.; Quinsigamond, Mass.; Camden, N.J.; Texas Southmost and Louisville, N.C.

trouble, so he passed. West wanted to bid something, but he held just one four-card suit and his opponents had bid it. So West passed and opened a trump. South looked over dummy and thought of the declarer who was supposed to have told an opponent: "If I want trumps led I'll lead them myself." Without a trump lead South would probably have been able to ruff a couple of clubs in dummy and score eight tricks. After that trump opening and a second trump by the first defender to get in, the best South could do was to collect four trumps, two clubs and a club ruff.

Ask the Jacobys

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The bid of a new suit is always an encouraging bid. It isn't always a force, but you should endeavor to find another bid. North wanted to find another bid over South's one spade. He wanted to, but he just couldn't find anything that looked good. One notrump seemed undesirable. A heart rebid on that weak five-card suit looked horrible and as for two spades, he might be getting into real

Today's hand was sent us by a Colorado reader. He sat West, pointed out that if he had bid one notrump he would have made it and wondered if he should have made that bid. Our answer was that it would have worked this time, but such bids will be really expensive if made regularly. (For a copy of JACOBY MODERN, send $1 to "Win at Bridge," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Ann Landers

Undressing can excite cat

Dear Ann Landers: I'm giving you my name and address in case you think the Yale men are at it again.

I refer to the letter from the woman who put her parakeet in the closet when she undressed. It was a male bird and she didn't want to excite him sexually. You said, "Nonsense," and I'm sure you are right about parakeets — but the same does not hold true for male Siamese cats.

I once had a male Siamese cat who slept at the foot of my bed. He had a habit of following me into the bedroom every evening when it was time to retire.

When I was completely undressed that crazy cat would leer at me approvingly, purr and meow, then leap onto my bare shoulder. I had to pry him loose and put him at the foot of the bed to sleep.

It has been proven that most Siamese cats are highly intelligent but this one was darned near human. Don't print my name. Just sign me — Cat Lady From Ol' Miss.

Dear Lady: Donna Dunlap, a Chicago animal expert, says your tale is no fake from Yale.

Donna elaborated: "Cats are not stimulated by visual images, but the movements involved in undressing could arouse a male cat sexually. Also, the olfactory sense often produces sexual excitement in many animals." Sooo — I buy it.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a little late getting into the act, but you got my dander up with your benign comment that people are being "warm and friendly" when they ask for a taste from someone else's plate.

When anyone asks ME for a taste I say, "Take it all. I'm not hungry any more." What I'd LIKE to say is, "Take the whole damn thing because if you don't I'm going to turn this plate of food upside down on top of your warm and friendly head." — Not Jack Spratt's Wife to a simple request raises questions in my mind. For example, why do you feel so strongly about this? Can it be you never learned to share as a child? For shame!

Dear N.J.: Temper, temper! Your violent reaction

Dear Ann Landers: I have a suggestion for the Oregon reader who complained about getting stuck with a fistful of pictures of other people's children and grandchildren. Here it is — and it works!

Get a camera and shoot no less than 50 pictures of your (or a friend's) pet. Make sure the animal is out of focus and moving, if possible. The result should be a handful of totally useless prints, guaranteed to bore the living daylights out of anybody.

The moment someone hands you a pack of pictures of their trip, their children or their grandchildren, pull out YOUR pictures. You'll be amazed at how soon you'll get them back, at which time you can return the ones handed to you. — Mission Accomplished

Dear Mish: Beautiful! Another reader sent a color photograph of two household products — "Pride" and "Joy." The suggestion was, when some bore hands you a couple dozen pictures of the children, say "Here are mine

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611. c. 1977 Field Enterprises, Inc.
